

Illegal Immigration Poll

(n=400 San Diego County Adults, Weighted to Age from 2000 U.S. Census)

Note: Earlier topline results were unweighted. After feedback and analysis, we weighted the data to age as determined by the US Census to better represent the sampled population.

How the KPBS/Competitive Edge Research Poll Was Conducted

The survey was conducted in English and Spanish by professional telephone interviewers on September 7th and 8th and contains 400 responses. Qualified respondents were limited to adults residing in San Diego County. Residents with unlisted telephone numbers are included in the sample. A blended sampling technique, which combines listed and random digit dial (RDD) sampling methodologies, was used. It gives every County resident an equal chance of participating while increasing the accuracy of the voter data. The RDD sample was provided by ASDE Survey Sampler, and the listed sample was provided by Political Data.

Verification procedures were followed and no surveys were rejected in the process. Editing, coding, computer processing and tabulation of the data were done at Competitive Edge's office in San Diego. The computer tabulations were produced using SPSSPC+ version 11.0, a statistical package copyrighted by SPSS, Inc.

The confidence level associated with samples of this type is such that, with a question where the respondents answer 50% "yes" and 50% "no," 95% of the time the results are within plus or minus 4.9% of the true value, where true value refers to the results obtained if it were possible to interview every possible qualified respondent. The degree of error is reduced when responses have larger (e.g. 60%-40%, 70%-30%, etc.) percentage differences. Conversely, the margin of error is increased somewhat when a subset of the entire 401 responses is analyzed. The maximum margin of sampling error for the countywide subset of 350 voters is 5.2%.

In addition to error introduced by sampling variability, there are many other possible sources of bias such as how the question is worded, the question sequence, or individual interviewer techniques. Competitive Edge does everything in its power to minimize these potential sources of bias.

A survey of this type is a good measure of current attitudes that may change over time. This survey should not necessarily serve as an unqualified predictor of events, but as an indicator as to the situation in early September 2004.
